TAXING MORTGAGES.

Criticism of the Method Suggested by the Governor for Collecting This Tax.

To the Editor of the Dispatch:

Governor Foraker, in his message of to-day, "recommends that every mort-gage on land in Ohio shall be taxed where the land is, and when the tax is not paid by the mortgagee, or some one for him, the mortgagor may pay the same, and be credited therefor double the amount so paid, as an in-ducement thereto, as for payment of

If this unwise recommendation were needed by the General Assembly of Ohio, the effect would be: I. To drive all foreign capital now loaned on mort-gages from the State and compel borrowers to rely wholly upon home capi-

The demand for money to pay back foreign loans would advance the rates of interest three per cent., mak-ing the current rate ten instead of sev-

a. Half the owners of city property whose lands and lots are mortgaged would be sold out by the sheriff.

4. There would be a greater shrinkage in the market value of real estate than the barkers for the same known in the than has heretofore been known in the State, and a panic would be precipitated more disastrous to it than that of 1873. Let us see how the matter stands.

New York loans $10,000 in gold to Ohio and takes a mortgage. If the gold had not been sent here there would be only the land tax; but, being sent here, the State taxes both gold and farm, and so increases its revenue. Now suppose by increases its revenue. Now suppose by threat of a tax on New York's evidence of Ohio's indebtedness, the gold is with drawn, then there will only be the farm to tax, and the State's revenue is diminished. Again, suppose the threat of a tax deters foreign capital from coming to Ohio, then, from this source at least the State's revenue connot be in-creased. Again, suppose this threat of taxation lessens the money in Ohio twenty-five per cent., would not the rate of interest be proportionally increased? And would not this increase fall wholly upon the borrower? And would not the dearth of money lead to Again, suppose the mortgage is taxed where the land is, and the money loaned on the mortgage is taxed where kidneys, much against my will I per-kidneys, much against my will I per-mitted my patient to use Warner's safe cure, of which I had heard marvelous the mortgage note where it is, would the mortgage note where it is, would not a gross wrong be perpetrated somewhereby treble taxation?

Governor Foraker has unfortunately caught on to the wrong end of this business, and the wisest thing the Legslature can do is to help him let go.

There is little doubt, after observing the indications of recognition between the horses attached to an array of delivery wagons at some popular gathering point, that the animals fraternize and hobnob with each other. WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, D.C. Jan. 18, 1887. The passage of the great Inter-State Commerce bill, which is the result of a popular movement beginning twenty years ago, marks the pust week in Congress. There was a good deal of important legislation besides this, however, such as that giving the Agricultural Department of the control of the con being a man of prominence and influence in his neighborhood, ever active and energetic in neighborhood interests, and his entire married life of 23 years having been passed upon the farm upon which he died, gave him a wide-spread and intimate acquaintance thereabout.

"Done? He has spoken the truth as that giving the Agricultural Department Executive importance and its chief a seat in the Cabinet; that extirpating the hierarchy at Salt Lake City, and that doubling the militia appropriation admitting professional inability to reach certain disorders.

"That letter created a wonderful sentence of the 68th On once again you sation among the titled classes and the edged that the citizen soldiery of the salt of the first professional among the titled classes and the edged that the citizen soldiery of the salt of the first professional among attention

It was expected that the Senate would settle the vexed question of Commerce by railroads as it did, about the hour of midnight, on Friday, but no one knew how many more Senators would be found supporting than opposing the stituents, saying in this instance, where legislation is necessarily experimental, it is safe to give the people the benefit of the doubt. The Inter-State Commerce bill was framed and pressed forward by men who were mostly honest in their effort to relieve the people, but there are a good many legislators who doubt its efficacy. Some say the railroads will put up their through freights instead of reducing their way freights, and thus insure the equality which the law de-

Now that the Anti-Mormon bill has been passed by the House, one hears a good many comments which indicate an appreciation of the severity of the measure. It not only makes polygamy a felony, but dissolves the financial corporations as the Latter Day Saints and the Perpetual Emigration Fund Company, and practically abolishes all the machinery, religious or political, that is now employed directly or indirectly in the maintenance of the Mormon Church system. There are differences of opinion as to the wisdom and justice of the policy, but the friends of the measure just passed assume that the malady is of such a terrible nature as to require heroic treatment. Its oppo-nents say it would be better to wait upon the slow attritions of time and the pressure of public opinion to wear the

The Republicans pledged themselves to eradicate polygamy in 1856, more than thirty years ago. They held pow-er for nearly a quarter of a century and as Mormonism still flourishes it is left for the Democrats to perform a duty which the Republicans neglected or else could not do. Of course everybody desires that the "twin relic of barbar-ism" shall be destroyed, if it can be done without straining the Constitu-tion. Hon. Randolph Tucker, of Virginia, who reported the Anti-Mormon bill, held that there was nothing in it that could hart the conscience even of a mormon. If he thought there was, he said he would vote against it. The State reception at the White House on Thursday evening was gorgeous in the gold lace of the guests of honor, the Diplomatic Corps, with mu-sic, gaslight, flowers and plams on ev-ery side, a crush of richly costumed women and a crowd of famous men, many of them in brilliant uniforms. Beside the official world of the Capital, about sixty persons in private life invited to the reception. Among these was noticed Mrs. Frank Leslie, and it was difficult to decide whether she or Mrs. Stanford, the wife of the Senator from California, wore the largest or the finest or the greatest number of dai-

The Marine band which furnishes music at White House receptions, is enthusiastic in praise of the present Administration. Mr. Cleveland feeds them well and is sociable and kind to them and Secretary Whitney is a man just after their own hearts. When they got through at the President's on New Years's day, the Secretary of the Navy took them over to his house to play at the reception there. He paid them $5 apiece for their services, and the leader $10. This was the first time they ever received remuneration from a Cabinet officer or any other property, and so make a smaller tax duplicate and less revenue?

Again, suppose the market value of all worst treatment they ever had was under President Arthur when the suppose the supp sent home at two or three o'clock in the morning with their stomachs full of oyster soup and beer. Blame was not fixed upon Mr. Arthur himself, but upon his steward. The far-famed Marine Band is com posed of thirty-eight men, and the sal-aries paid them are $38 per month for first class talent, $24 for second class and $21 for third class. The leader gets about $1,600 a year. This and the West such, that the Government supports. Although the Marine band enjoys some perquisites, and a good many privileges and honors, it complains that its salaries are too small, and that first rate men cannot be kept at the wages paid by the Government.

The succession of storm centres now crossing the country is likely to bring on the "January thaw" in earnest. This mid-winter thaw is not based on a vulgar fallacy but upon a great climatic law. It is due to the fact that the sun's expansive force in the southern hemisphere is now at its maximum, and conwhile awaiting to be driven away in phere across the Equator into the north-their several directions. It is observed ern hemisphere, where its vapor is con-ensed into heavy rains.

The first sign of this movement was reported on the 4th inst. by Captain R. B. Quick, of the steamer Eureka. as a "thick vapor" at sea. Captain J. W. Reynolds, of the steamer City of Alexandria, and Captain W. G. Shackford, of the steamer Newport, reported the same day "thick steam vapor" and "thick vapor." These ocean records are of interest as beautifully illustratng the law to which we refer. But they are of great practical importance as premonitory signs of the mid-Janu-ary thaw on our confinent.

The obvious effect of this change is to increase the flood dangers in the Ohio and Mississippi valleys. Preparation cannot be too soon made, after the late heavy snow-falls, to guard against these flood perils.—N. Y. Herald.

The Athlophoros Co. gladly refers sufferers from rheumation, neuralgin, sciatica, nervous or sick headache, kidney and liver complaints to those who have been cured of these diseases by Athlophoros, and will furnish names and addresses of many such persons to those desiring them. Athos is the only remedy for these diseases that can stand such a test.

J. R. Atchison, Druggist, London, Ohio, says: "Athlophoros has the best sale of any rheumatic medicine I over sold I do not hesitate in recommending it for rheuma-tism in every instance, as I have witnessed many wonderful cures from its use. I could not begin to recollect the many different cures it has made, but had I known I would ever be asked that question I could havegiven a hundred names at least. I can remember a few names in the city that were badly afflicted and owe their cure to Athlo-phoros, among them being T. J. Houston, Mrs. W. H. C. McCoy, Mrs. Martha Ten-ney, John Mitchell, Robert D. Smith, and M. M. Thomas. These are all well-known citigens, and will confirm all I say if you will call on them." During this conversation Mr. T. J. Houston happened in the store. Upon being questioned he said: "I have been subject to rheumatism for ten years. I hobbled down here withthe assistance of two canes, and bought my first bottle of Athlophoros. In two hours after I took the first dose I came back again to say I had no further use for the canes. From that time I grew better. After using three bottles, which is four months ago, I have been free from rheumatism. My wife has also used it for neuralgia. Its effect with her was wonderful. It removed the pain almost

A few years since everybody was fa-miliar with the name of "Coal Oil Johnny," whose sudden transition from poverty to wealth found him destitute of sense enough to take care of his good fortune. For some years he revelled in all the eccentricities and extravagan-cies that a shallow brain could conceive. He bought fancy horses and carriages, and gave them to his drivers; bought costly diamonds and other jewelry and bestowed them upon his washer-women, and countless other follies. But he kept descending gradually step by step until his fortune was all gone and he had reached the end of his tether, and now, a miserable tramp, he has no place to lay his head but in a dreary cell in Mt.
